The National Coalition Building Institute, Rochester, NY Inc. presents

WELCOMING DIVERSITY: Mastering the courage to intervene without alienating

It is critically important to speak up when witnessing bias, name calling or mistreatment of any kind. But if our desire is relationship-building, a more refined set of skills is necessary. It takes courage and restraint to listen for the hurt underneath an oppressive remark and respond without blame or guilt.

Please join us to enhance your intervention skills, confidence and ally-building capacity, whether at work, at home, or in the community at large.
